

artist definitely rejects cheap compromise in all questions relating to art, nevertheless she should not be classed with those self-centred artists who display a deplorable lack of vision with respect to the practical demands of the age and feel under no obligation to any one but themselves. The specimens of Erna Schmidt-Caroll's work