

Hugo Frank

Illustrationen aus der Zeitschrift „Stuttgarter Leben“

Illustrations from the periodical "Stuttgarter Leben"

vious pleasure does he apply himself to depicting the familiar and intimate charm of ancient, crooked little streets and remote villages. And no less successfully can the artist portray with unaffected humour some real characters living a little apart from their fellow-men in country districts whereby he always refrains from injuring people's feelings by using irony or sarcasm. Hugo Frank is a humorist in the true sense of the word. Hence it is not surprising that his delightful drawings are frequently accompanied by humorous improvisations in prose or verse composed by himself.

12

Translated by Flora Salmond-Volkman

