of a pharmaceutical prospectus shows us and which bears the stamp of his highly original genius. A cartoon film will be produced shortly. Its theme is one of Lafontaine's Fables and it will introduce Lucien Boucher to the public at large. Trsl. by Fl. Salmond-Volkmann for striking and powerful colour effects nevertheless he avoids loud and glaring notes, and never oversteps the bounds of subtle and harmonious colouring. Lucien Boucher, the master of "inspiration populaire" is familiar to all bibliophiles through the goodly number of books he has illustrated. On occasion he uses his talents in the service of publicity as the charming wrapper
