There is unfolded to our gaze German, Austro-Hungarian and Italian folkhood in a manner unsurpassed by any travel story. J. A. Klein thus becomes the ideal, faithful "historiographer". What an impression, for instance, is left on our minds by the etchings "Sheep-shearing" or "Skating"! In addition his New Year Cards show that Klein may well be described in terms of an ingenious "advertising artist" in the modern sense of the word. Again, Klein was a pioneer in another field of work, namely, as a war reporter. The war years from 1813 to 1815 with their marching armies, camps and battles
