

Handwritten text at the top of the page, likely bleed-through from the reverse side.

Vertical marginal notes on the left side of the page.

Main body of handwritten text in a cursive script, containing several lines of prose.

Vertical marginal notes on the right side of the page.