

Handwritten text in Gothic script, likely a title or a short inscription, located on the upper right portion of the wooden board. The text is partially obscured by the leather binding and the circular emblem.

