

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or document, written on aged, yellowed paper. The text is mirrored across the page, suggesting it is bleed-through from the reverse side. The words are difficult to decipher due to the cursive and fading, but some legible fragments include "Herrn", "München", "am", "den", "17ten", "März", "1771", "München", "den", "17ten", "März", "1771", "München".