

4. Parte
Disput. Pa-
racel. fol.
203.

Lib. 1. Espist. 53.

De simpl.
cap. de Rosis.

dit, multa esse, q̄ si sec^o p̄parata administrarētur, cōmodiùs actura essent: vt ita Chymie studiū, certis legibus, quas ipse p̄mulgat, circūseptū, nouas remediorū formas, distillationū, aliarūq; operationū beneficio haud difficulter inueniat.
Cogit̄ fateri Langius, quanquā vestigijs antiquorū tenaciter adhæreat, Chymi-starū artificio, pleraq; pharmaca aquas salutares & causticas, ex aromatib. olea odorifera, leniterq; edaces ex hydrargyro pulueres, putridi vlceris sordes abstergetes, & pleraq; alia, magni in cura morborū vsus confici posse: vt miretur stillatitij per alēbicū liquoris vsū, tā serò à Græcorū & Arabū Medicis acceptū fuisse. Posterio^o tamē, nō amplius mirari videēt, quòd is liquor à suorū parētū, vt ait, virtutib. longè desciscat, viresq; purgādi amittat: dicente quoq; Mesueo, a-quā rosarū p̄ sublimationē factā, euidē-ter roborare, nō aluū subducere, cū eius caliditas igne sit dissoluta. Hoc, si q̄s ijs, q̄ dixim^o, aduersari cōtēdeat, expē-dat ingenuè, quàm parū detrahat distillatorū p̄bitati. Ideo enim p̄feruntur, vt deposita facultate, quā nature aduersa, vim