

Faded handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is illegible due to fading and is arranged in several lines across the top half of the page.

Wagner