

Faint, illegible text visible through the paper, likely bleed-through from the reverse side. The text is arranged in several horizontal lines across the page.