

Handwritten musical notation on aged paper, consisting of numerous small black dots arranged in various patterns across the page. The dots are organized into several horizontal lines, suggesting a form of musical notation or a specific type of shorthand. The patterns of dots vary in density and arrangement, with some appearing as small clusters and others as more dispersed sequences.

Solo 1.