

The image shows two pages of an antique manuscript with handwritten musical notation. The paper is aged and yellowed. The notation is written on five-line staves. On the left page, there is a large scribble at the top and some faint text. On the right page, there is more legible text, including "Gloria" and "Credo". The manuscript is bound in the center, and a ruler is visible on the left edge.