

107

Handwritten text in a historical script, possibly Latin or German, located at the top of the page.

Additional handwritten text in a historical script, located at the bottom of the page.

A vertical column of text or a list of entries running down the right margin of the page.